MOUNT

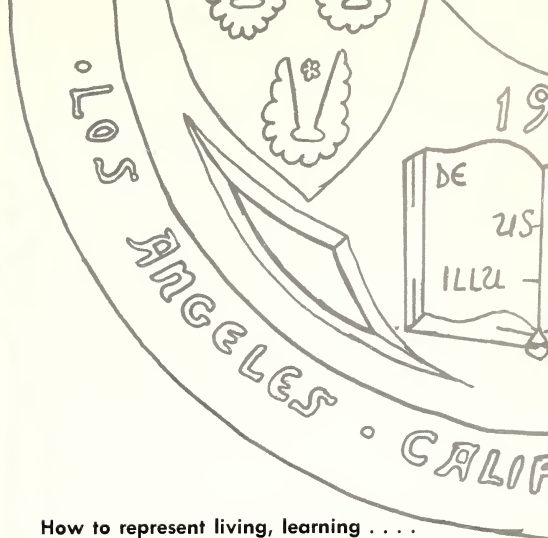

Published by the Senior Class

Mount St. Mary's College

Los

Angeles, California

How to represent living, learning . . .

a disciplined life to train

a mind in a free range of thought.

We chose as our symbol the college seal:

The lily

symbol of Mary,
the whole woman;
patroness of four years
of learning to realize life.

The open book

"Deus Illuminatio Mea," God my light through four years of life-learning.

The fleur-de-lis

Sisters of St. Joseph,
founders, builders;
artists whose art is teaching.

The wings of Los Angeles

center of social activities,
motion: lights, people, machines;
Discovery.

ADMINIS

An informal discussion before class engages Sr. St. Claire and Dr. Oard.

The fleur de lis,
artistic formation:
teaching, the art of
forming, building.
Our discovery, through form,
of freedom.

Not only do faculty members reach the students in the classroom, but also in informal counseling sessions.

The patio provides an informal meeting place for teachers and students.

Miss Smith points out the more humorous aspects of modern art.

A R T

Senior art students Elizabeth Cahill and Morgoret Buxkemper listen as Marie Schmidt composes the techniques of different artists.

Beginning art students learn the fundamentals of drawing.

MUSIC

Music students, under the guidance of Dr. Daran, learn to play the clarinet.

First year music majors begin their studies with a course in solfege.

DRAMA

Mr. O'Keefe sets the mood for the next scene as he directs a drama class.

Learning the effects of staging is just one step in the making of an actress.

ENGLISH

The advanced creative writing students criticize the novels they have written this semester.

Sister Patricia Clare conducts an open discussion to clarify the fine points of English composition.

LANGUAGES

To demonstrate proper pronunciation and inflection, Dr. Andreani reads to her Italian Class.

Students of 18th century French literature appreciate a humorous passage as pointed out by Dr. Bosi.

Under Mrs. Demby's guidance students brood their understanding of Russian life and language.

Listening to Spanish records helps Sister Hildegard's students improve their accents.

Ready assistance is available to Dr. Andreani's German class during a reading period.

Roman comedies are the topic for the Latin discussion led by Sister Germaine.

Student nurses discuss nursing techniques with Mrs. Darling.

Leaving for a day at the hospital to put classroom knowledge into practice are Pat Carroll, Margaret Bush and Lowreen Croin.

Nursing students prepare to assist in the Health Office duties for students.

N U R S I N G

Class reports aid future teachers in guidance of the adolescent.

EDUCATION

Student teachers discuss preparation for elementary school classes they teach.

Future secondary education teachers talk over teaching methods with Dr. Young.

In the chemistry laboratory students learn to develop the practical methods and techniques of the chemist.

S C I E N C E

Advanced bacteriology students discuss the results of their laboratory experimentation with their instructor, Miss Zeuthen.

Dr. LoDochy quizzes his students on current material in general life science.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics student explains to Sister Rose Gertrude and the class her solution to a differential calculus problem.

Elementary analysis class listens as Sister Margaret Leo explains the new material on algebraic equations.

Father O'Reilly gets his point across to his calculus students by means of a demonstration.

S O C I A L

Dr. Oard's discussion in history class makes the subject come alive to the students.

The complexities of current problems of government are the discussion topic of Mr. Delahanty's political science class.

S T U D I E S

Future social workers listen intently as Sister Mary Brigid explains the history of social security.

Economics class listens as Sister Catherine Therese informs them on economic trends in American business.

The aspects of social relationships are explained to the class by Miss Rippon.

Seniors, Bernice Fijok, Mary Harris and Pat Orselli learn the art of cookery through practice.

HOME ECONOMICS

Mrs. Simpson lectures her students on the development and use of textiles.

Students question Sister Cecile Therese on problems occurring in child growth.

THEOLOGY

Students listen attentively as Sister Rose Cecilia discusses the meaning of moral theology.

PHILOSOPHY

Mr. Buckenmeyer poses a question to his students on the meaning of philosophy.

NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Freshman Sue Scott relates her experiences as young student leader to N.S.A. coordinator Lola McAlpin and her assistants, Diane de Anda and Diane Clarke. The N.S.A. on our campus functions to organize conferences to train freshmen in the art of leadership and to keep student citizens aware of current national problems.

STUDENT LEADERS

HONOR SYSTEM COMMITTEE

The Honor System Committee under the guidance of Sister Catherine Anita strives to make each girl conscious of her responsibility to maintain the personal honor and integrity of a Christian woman. Seated: Dale Wright, Susan Reedy, Sister Catherine Anita, Ann Kilgore. Standing: Pat Reilly, Sheila Sousse, Lynn Albizoti.

RESIDENT

Peg Langhans
President

The life of the "boarder" forms an important part of the Mount campus. Close friendships, mutual cooperation and impromptu get-togethers all add their part to the atmosphere. Headed by the Resident Council, organized events are planned which include formal banquets, holiday parties, movies and the traditional Christmas caroling.

Resident officers: Diane Plou, Kahy Butts, Michelle Lundborg, Social Chairman Chris Ceretta, President Peggy Langhans, Vice-President Sue Lee, Mary Emma Kazmierczak, Gail Fiedler, Regina D'Ambrosio.

Entrance to the residence halls . . .

STUDENTS

In the newly decorated dining room, resident students enjoy their meals.

Excited resident students read their cards and letters from home.

In between classes in the fifth floor lounge . . .

Senior day hops take advantage of their privilege to study at the round tables in the library.

DAY HOPS

The Browning Room witnesses many activities of the day hops—studying, sleeping, and chatting.

The "cof" is home away from home for day hops who gather there during leisure hours.

That modern wonder—the vending machine—provides Mount day hops with such “necessities” as coffee, condy, cigarettes, soft drinks, and ice cream.

The morning rush for a parking space and the flight up the narrow Mount road still remain a challenge to the day hops.

The patio is a favorite place for relaxation and animated discussion.

YOUNG CHRISTIAN STUDENTS

Camille Esselle, Toni Turner, Naomi Takeshita, Virginia Speltz, and Nancy Andres, Y.C.S. members, discuss and attempt to solve the many problems affecting the Christian student's life.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

OUR LADY'S SODALITY

Sodality members become interested in spreading Christian principles in other lands through the talk by Miss Gloria Boyd, an alumna, on her experiences in Venezuela.

Kathy Russey, Bobbi Dummel, and Janet Oliniski set the mood for Taz annual Roaring Twenties Party.

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Sigma Alpha Iota members Judith Atkins, Naomi Takeshita, and Mary Harris greet guests at a recent student recital.

STUDENT CALIFORNIA TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Lectures and discussions of problems encountered in the field of education are the prime interest of SCTA members under the direction of Rosemary Moselli.

MARION ART CLUB

Marion Art Club members happily anticipate their Art Festival which is open to the entire student body. The Festival gives the students an opportunity to exhibit their own talents and view those of other students.

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS

LAMBDA OMICRON CHI

Members of Lambda Omicron Chi, the home economics club, look over the current project of the tailoring class.

PARNASSIANS

Parnassians, Judy Harris, Camille Esselle, Marion Menges, and Peggy Langhans enjoy discussing and analyzing a contemporary novel.

MASQUERS

Masquers discuss plans with Mr. O'Keefe for a new play they will present.

Masquers rehearse current production they will present as one of the projects of the club.

Stage manager, Regina D'Ambrosia, discusses with her crew the sets and lighting for the forthcoming play.

RING AROUND THE MOON

The Masquers' fall production was "RING AROUND THE MOON." It was a satirical comedy of manners complicated by a set of identical twins.

"Would you good ladies be sa kind to take a seat," says Joshua to ballerina Mandy Cuajunco and mather Jackie Petros.

Ken Palma and Mary Couture tango in the winter-garden.

"Kiss me you last dog and I'll find your way home for you." Frank Kilmond and Kitty Splaine.

Carol Clem and Maris Lindley reminisce about the good old days in piano class.

Carmen Tejada as Madame De Mortes asserts her authority to the decadent old butler.

Romanville and Hugo stir and manipulate the thickening plot.

HONOR SOCIETIES

ALPHA MU GAMMA

Alpha Mu Gamma is the Modern Language Honor Society. It is composed of those girls who have consistently maintained a high average in a modern language.

SIGMA DELTA PI

Jan Leal, Margaret Conley, Kathy Arn, Margarita Samaniega, Camille Esselle, Alice Zamora and Penny Hooper are the Mount's members of the National Spanish Honor Society.

PI THETA MU

LAMBDA IOTA TAU

HONORS SEMINAR

WHO'S WHO

Nomination by the Senior Class, based on scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and future promise, places seventeen seniors in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. First row: Marian Menges, Enid Evans, Peggy Carr. Second row: Kathy Herman, Peggy Langhans.

Editor

THE VIEW

Mount St. Mary's newspaper THE VIEW combines fine writing with excellent coverage of events on and off campus. The able staff, composed of Mount students from both campuses, helps readers to be well-informed and thinking Catholic women.

Page editors Mikie Siman and Michele Mayotte discuss an article being written for the next issue.

Staff members look over a current issue of THE VIEW and prepare assignments for the issue to come.

WEST WORDS

The WESTWORDS, the quarterly literary magazine at the Mount, displays the talents of the Mount students. The staff, with the full responsibility of preparing each issue, must select, for publication, the poems, short stories, and essays submitted by the students in various fields of study.

Marian Menges
Editor

Preparing to meet their deadline, the Westwords' staff organize and put together the pages for the next issue.

A time consuming and important part of the work of the staff is choosing the articles for each issue.

Joan Brosovic
Co-editor

This year marked the return of a student body annual. The co-editors, Kathy Butts and Joan Brosovic with Sister Mary moderating, burned the midnight oil many times in order to meet deadlines. Finally the last pages were sent off and everyone rested. The entire staff deserves credit for their work.

Staff: Leanne Peters, Eleanor Horrigan, Marie Schmidt, Judy Harris, Peggy Carr, Judy Black, Kathy Butts, Bobbi Dummel, Pat Orselli, Marg Buxkemper, Rosemary Strano.

The art staff, Marg Buxkemper, Marie Schmidt, and Nan Kubelka, combine their talent to develop a new technique in yearbook art.

MOUNT

Kathy Butts
Co-editor

The art, photography, and layout staffs combine their efforts to produce this year's annual.

The literary staff discusses copy, captions and headlines for the yearbook.

The activities of the year began with the opening of the Downtown Campus. The two campuses of Mount St. Marys combined an many activities throughout the year.

ACTIVITIES

The freshmen began their college career with the traditional Green Week. Throughout the week, under the guidance of the junior class, they are introduced to the Mount campus and its activities.

At the end of Green Week, the freshmen display their talent to the college through the production of Frosh Frolics.

The formal initiation of the freshmen occurs on Founders Day with the traditional capping ceremony.

Together shape the facets of person.

To discover, to realize oneness.

In October we find the students going Hawaiian. Seniors pause with their dotes for a picture before returning to their fish and poi.

During the Founders Day program, the freshmen are also introduced to the history of our college.

Among the varied activities at the Mount are the many concerts held throughout the year.

The resident student's first annual Twelfth Night Ball launched the activities for the second semester.

Carrie Skirlick, Michele Mayotte and Noomi Takeshita anxiously wait for their dates for the annual sophomore Mordis Gros.

At the end of February music is heard throughout the campus as the girls practice for Spring Sing.

The Art Festival, held annually, is produced through the combined efforts of each department.

Peggy and Marian assist Barbara in preparing for the Junior-Senior Prom.

EASTERN RITE MASS

Mount students stand with hands crossed while receiving Communion under the two species of bread and wine.

Rev. Eugene Chromoga and Rev. William Levkolic co-celebrate Mass. Two priests celebrate one and the same Mass in the Byzantine Rite.

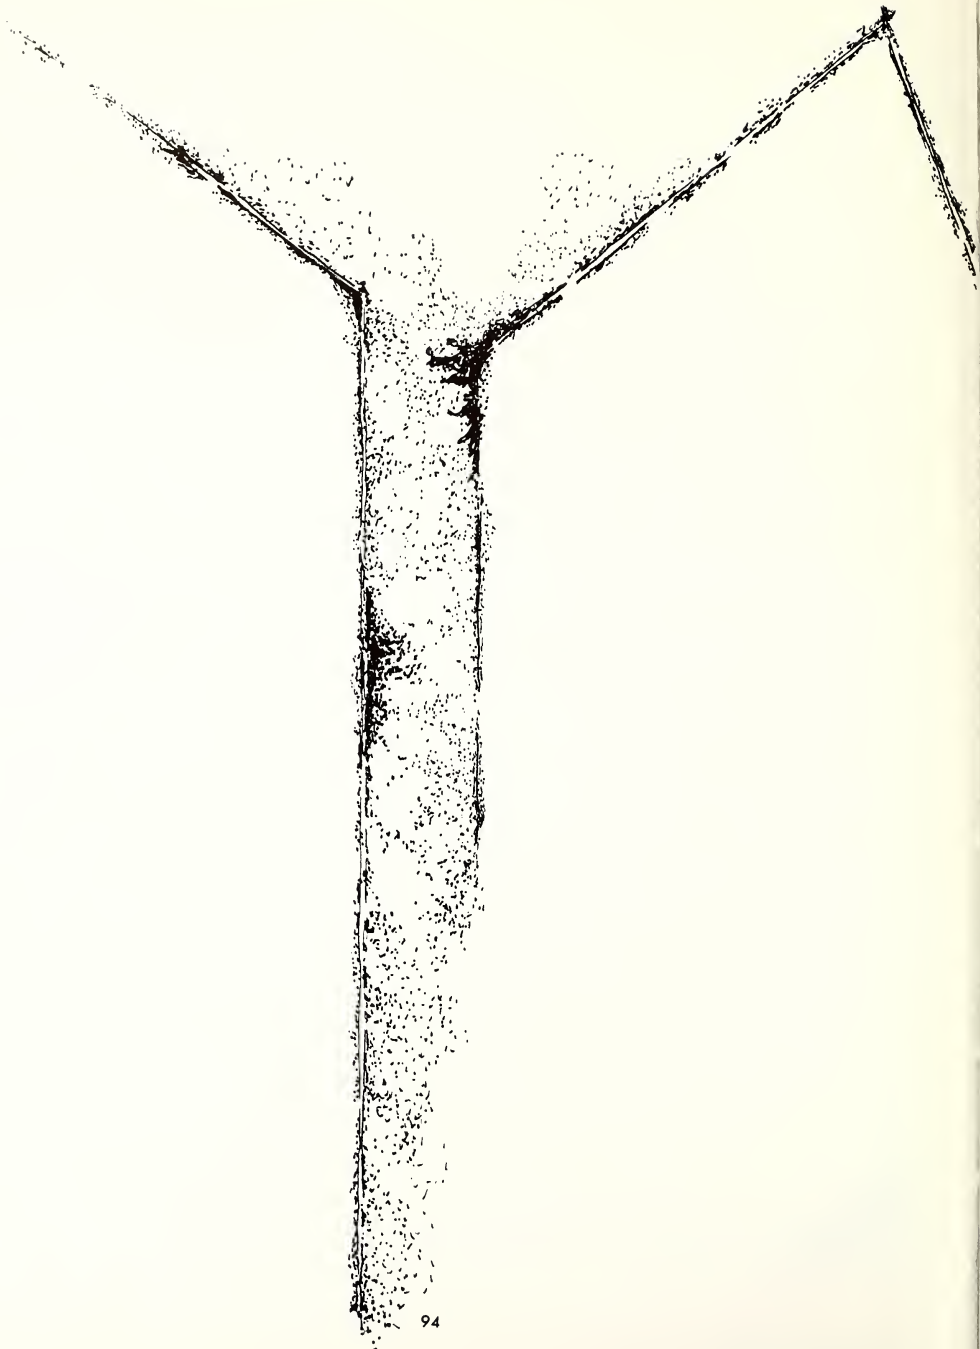

On the feast of Saint Nicholas, December 6, Mount students participated in the Byzantine Rite of the Eastern Church. The Mass, celebrated in the English language, was characterized by an active participation of the student body in directly sung responses.
